Starkey, of Edmonton, Is Winner of Golf Tourney

Playing excellent golf from tee to green, Jack Starkey of Edmonton, won the championship honors at the annual tournament of the Wetaskiwin golf club held over the week-end. His opponent in the final was Fritz Kirslein of Wetaskiwin, and the match ended at the 13th green, 6 up and 5 to play.

Starkey played the best match golf of any of the competitors in the tournament. He qualified with an 81, six strokes back of Hugh C. Macdonald of Edmonton, who had the low medal round, a 75, and in his march to the title accounted for Herb Johnstone of Camrose, A. R. Gibson of Red Deer, Sandy Niven of Edmonton and Fritz Kirslein of Wetaskiwin in turn. He was given real opposition from Johnstone and Gibson, but was in great form against Niven and Kirslein. Against Niven he shot a 33 for his first nine holes, and that was a pace that had him far out in front at the turn. He kept up the same clip against Kirslein and was only a stroke worse, 34, at the halfway mark of his final match. Starkey was driving a long ball, playing accurate second shots, and putting extremely well on the sand greens.

L. Lewis of Camrose was winner of the championship consolation, defeating his fellow townsman, Herb Johnstone in the final.

J. Duckworth of Stettler defeated H. B. Hanson of Wetaskiwin in the first flight final, while in the consolation final of the same flight, George Wiseman of Wetaskiwin defeated W. J. McLean of Red Deer.

Honors in the second flight, went to C. Hendry of Camrose who beat C. F. Hooper of Edmonton and in the consolation final of this flight, C. C. Watson of Wetaskiwin defeated Rev. Mr. Harrington of Camrose.

Following are the results of the play in the championship flight:

First round—H. Henderson, Lacombe, defeated J. W. Robinson of Edmonton; A. Niven, Edmonton, defeated Leo Dufosse, Edmonton; A. R. Gibson, Red Deer, defeated L. Lewis, Camrose; J. B. Wetaskiwin Sportsfest Big Success in Every Particular

The City of Wetaskiwin was definitely put on the map of the sporting world last week, when the Dominion Women's Championships and the Alberta Boys' Provincial Championships were so satisfactorily and successfully conducted. The track conditions were so favorable that no less than nine Dominion and Provincial records were broken, and in the accomplishment of this feat the athletes of Alberta did their full share as they are credited with seven of them.

The official opening took place on Tuesday afternoon by the Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, under whose distinguished patronage the Sportsfest was held. His Honor delivered a brief address in which he welcomed the outside athletes to this province, and at the same time complimented the people of this city on their energy and enterprise in being able to conduct such an important sports event so successfully.

His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, was introduced by Mayor B. D. Howatt, who congratulated him upon his elevation from the bench to the highest office in the province. The mayor also extended a most cordial welcome to the visiting athletes, and expressed the hope that the meet would be an unqualified success and that the best spirit of sportsmanship would prevail throughout all the competitions.

Following the official opening, Mrs. Walsh was presented with two beautiful bouquets of flowers by the little twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Anderson.

Preceding His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was a "parade of provinces," in which artistically decorated floats representing each province of the Dominion, were drawn by little tots, and as these were lined up in front of the grand stand it made a very beautiful and inspiring sight. His Honor was escorted to the stand by Wetaskiwin Scouts, who formed a guard of honor. Miss Norma Chiddy depicted Canada with dignity, and as the flag was being hoisted the Wetaskiwin Band played the National Anthem.

The local athletes made an exceptionally fine showing in competition with the stars from outside places. Especially commendable was the performance of Nettie Anderson of Falun, who threw the discus 85 feet, breaking the previous Dominion junior discus record for girls by seven inches. This is a remarkable performance, as Nettie never threw a discus until two months before the meet.

Ronald Hoskins of Millet, also made a very fine showing, winning first in running broad jump; second in the eight pound shot; second in the 440 yards and third in the running high jump.

Owing to a sprained ankle received some weeks ago, which interfered with her training, Miss Norma Chiddy entered only three events, winning second in the 100 metres hurdles, third in the javelin throw and third in the discus throw.

WILLIAM IRVINE M.P. SPEAKS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

The following is a Hansard report of a speech made in the House of Commons by William Irvine, M.P., during the debate on unemployment: Let me turn next to the main proposal, and the one in which we are all more interested than even in these points of academic discussion. I refer to the question of how to meet the unemployment problem that at present exists in Canada. Of course I know the government, in taking this course, does not consider it is solving the problem of unemployment for all time. It will give employment to the people only while they are doing the work which is provided for them, and not any longer. There is nothing in the proposal that would indicate a fundamental alteration in the system itself that would do away with unemployment. But the action that is being taken is very necessary at the present time, and the question is: what suggestions can we make to the government in this regard?

I was glad indeed to hear the declaration that the government intended to enter upon extensive public works, to provide constructive, real work, not work that is manufactured by groups and municipalities as is sometimes done, merely to keep idle hands busy, like carrying a heavy stone from one end of the garden to the other for eight hours a day in order that a man may feel morally justified that he had done sufficient work to entitle him to eat three meals. That kind of work we do not want, but real constructive work which is required, work which will assist Canada to produce greater wealth in the future than it has in the past. That is the kind of work we desire to have done, and I am delighted that the government has seen fit to announce that policy now because I believe that in itself is a mark of progress.

As I have perhaps too often said to this house in criticism of government policies generally in respect to unemployment, most governments in times of depression spend less money than at any other time, and most governments during times of great prosperity have a tendency to spend more money than at any other time. That is the natural reaction. I say that to the general public feeling, but I argue that it is bad policy. The governments of the country, municipal, provincial and dominion, taken together represent a greater control of the capital expenditure of this country than any other force, and if all these governments would undertake to plan carefully even their own expenditure, they ought to a very great extent regulate the periods of depression and unemployment. They have control. They may spend this year or next year. I think that the adoption of such a policy by the government would be a step in advance; not that it would cure anything, but it might prevent a good deal of unnecessary suffering if all the governments of Canada, municipal, provincial and dominion, would undertake to think ahead and to engage in capital expenditure to the greatest extent in times of depression and to husband its resources in times of prosperity. That would have a regulating effect upon the boom and slump cycles which unfortunately come because we have not intelligent control of finance in relation to production and distribution.

There are many kinds of work which the government could undertake, and may I suggest that the government ought to do this thing in a big way if it is going to do it at all. I hope the government will do it in such a way that it will not be necessary for working people to lower their standard of living next winter. I hope that they will engage it in such a way that it will not be necessary to reduce wages below the ordinary standards, and that they will engage it in a big enough way to give a stimulus to the whole business life of Canada. It may not take so much to do that as we might at first think. Unquestionably the depression in this and all other countries is due to the fact that there is not enough purchasing power amongst the people to distribute the goods the production of which the modern machine has made possible. You may explain that any way you like. But put the money into the pockets of the people of Canada today and you will not require any money for unemployment relief. There would be plenty to do. You would then have the purchasing power necessary to move the goods now lying on the dust-laden shelves of the warehouses and as soon as those goods are moved the wheels of industry will start replenishing the shelves, and then you are off. The great question is to distribute purchasing power, and I hope the government will enter into this building of public service in such a way as to make a real impression on the economic life of the country. There are so many things that might be done. I shall enumerate a few of the smaller ones first, and then finish up with a few of the larger ones.

There could be built schools and colleges. We need more of both. Roads and bridges could be built. Electric and steam railways footpaths, parks, the making of improved roads, such as gravel roads, and so forth, the building of hospitals, sanatoria and laboratories, public buildings, the improvement of harbours, the development of canals and generally the means of inland navigation, the reclamation of waste lands, forestation, the making of supplies for public institutions, such as clothing, uniforms and furniture.

May I add to that list the building of houses for the people of Canada to live in? There is not one of our large cities in Canada so far as I am aware, which has escaped the slump condition characteristic of the older cities. Go to Montreal or Toronto, or even to Winnipeg, and you will find street after street of houses that ought to be burned down. You will find people struggling to pay high rents for houses because houses are scarce. At the same time you will find hundreds of idle carpenters, hundreds of idle plumbers, hundreds of men idle who would like to dig cellars and make concrete basements. You will find lumber burning up in the saw in the lumber yards of Canada and all timber in the forests waiting to be cut down with the axe. We have all these things in abundance, and yet we have people without houses to live in. Go on the prairies among the farmers and you will find dozens of farmers living in hovels, shacks, with the rain pouring in on them when it rains, and the occupants freezing to death in the winter time. These people require better houses, and it would be in the interests of Canada to build them. It is far better for us to build houses to remove the slums from our cities, to raise the standard of living for our agriculturists, than merely to give hand-outs in relief in order to keep people from starving. Such is the kind of constructive work that I hope the government will undertake.

Let me now indicate a few things that might be done in a bigger way. We hope that, some day in the near future the deep waterway on the St. Lawrence will be developed. We hope that in the near future it will be possible to travel by motor from the eastern coast to the western coast. We want that highway built, whether it is built as a national highway all the way through or the stretches of provincial highways are merely linked up. That work should be done. It would be a great service to the people of Canada. To give another example, take the Peace River outlet, which has already been mentioned by the hon. member for Bow River (Mr. Garland). There is a necessary railway to be built; the people are needing it, and there cannot be a more advantageous time to build it than now when money can be borrowed perhaps more cheaply than in the midst of a period of prosperity. There are three great undertakings. Let them be undertaken as speedily as possible, as well as similar undertakings. Suppose it puts Canada $500,000,000 more in debt. Suppose it even went so far as to put Canada $1,000,000,000 more in debt, for construction, for peace, for the development of national life, a billion dollars in the interests of constructive human statehood. Suppose it is done. Could not that well be defended? We could not defend the expenditure of two billion dollars for war. I do not know of anybody who either then or now would say that we could have got rid of that expenditure, but after all, what have we to show for it but thousands of graves of our best in Flanders, hundreds and thousands of our citizens crippled, and all the ill-feeling which develops as the result of a world war of that magnitude, with all the problems which have been created thereby? And still we have to meet all the little wars, and all the big wars which the peace following the last war made possible. That is all we got out of it. All the goods were produced and destroyed, but for a peace program of this kind the goods we produce will remain to reproduce ourselves in the greater wealth of the nation. I do not think any government has to fear criticism from intelligent people when they undertake the expenditures necessary to meet the country's needs in the midst of an economic breakdown of society such as is common to all nations of the world today. The government has committed itself to a policy of protecting Canadian citizens from hunger and starvation, and it proposes to do so, not merely by doling out a few dollars now and again, but by constructive work. I have tried to indicate some of the things I believe should be done under that program by the municipal and provincial governments in joint operation with the federal government.

The question now arises: Where is the money to come from to carry out these works? That is the greatest problem which any government of today sees fit to face. I do not know whether the government has agreed with what I have said so far, but I am sorry to say I am sure it will not agree with my next statement. From now on I go alone, so far as the government is concerned. The government does not believe it is possible to finance our national undertakings in any other way than the method which in the past has been adopted. I am quite convinced that the day is not far distant when this or some other government will change its mind on that point. Throughout the entire world the question of credit is today the chief matter of discussion. We know that at the moment Europe is almost at the point of breakdown, through lack of proper credit facilities. We know that condition has been brought about by a debt creating system which, by its very nature, grows from day to day and from generation to generation until the burden of the world's debt becomes so terrific that the financial structure crumbles under the weight. To put it another way, international and national debts have so absorbed the credit of the people that there is nothing left to live on, and nothing left to circulate or to make goods move. There is nothing left with which to enter into new productions, so great has become the debt system. If we proceed with a program such as that indicated in the resolution we shall have to borrow or create money to do it. If we borrow the money, the banks create it; if we create it, we do ourselves what the banks would do for us: That is the only difference.

I am going to suggest, as I have done at nausum to this house, that the government consider the possibility of financing this matter by putting the national credit behind it, and not by leasing debt and interest bearing bonds which will not only add to the debt, but which in twenty years these bonds will be doubled, and will add to the burden of debt from which the nations of the world are at the present time struggling to free themselves. I do not suppose it would be edifying to hon. members if I were to attempt to analyze the credit system of Canada. I do not think I would be justified in letting this opportunity pass, however, without emphasizing that this is a time when an experiment could be made, at least on a small scale. The hon. member for Macleod (Mr. Coote) has been urging that we should alter the gold basis of our currency, sufficiently to place us on a par with countries with whom we have to compete in business. Here is a method of achieving that result without doing anything with the gold. Let there be issued in Canada sufficient credit to undertake these public services, and immediately, as the Prime Minister will declare, if asked, currency will be debased to correspond with the currency of other countries, and immediately we shall have done what the hon. member for Macleod has been asking us to do and would place ourselves on a level with Australia, Argentina and the countries with which we must compete when selling our goods in the markets of the world. They would not have an advantage as they do now, of between 25 and 30 per cent when they sell their goods to countries to which we desire also to sell.

I do not think I could add much more to the discussion. That the government has undertaken to deal with the problem of unemployment is a mark of progress. I believe it should be a part of the government's policy to regulate its public works with a view to doing most of them at a time when we have greatest unemployment, and doing least when we have greater prosperity. Further, I believe that the financing of such an undertaking should be done directly from the treasury of the state without any interest charges beyond those which are necessary to meet the handling charges. In that way we would increase the purchasing power of the community without increasing its debt, and by increasing the purchasing power we would stimulate industry in Canada and go a long way towards relieving the present unemployment situation.

BANKS, GOVERNMENT AIDING FARMERS TO SECURE TWINE

Binder twine requirements of Alberta farmers for the approaching harvest will be provided for by arrangement between the provincial government and the banks. Instructions are being issued by the head offices of the banks to their provincial branches which will ensure the necessary line of credit for this purpose.

Complaints have reached the government from various parts of the province to the effect that farmers are experiencing difficulty in obtaining the necessary supplies of twine, and on this point Premier Brownlee has given out the following statement:

"Whether or not farmers have so far experienced difficulty in obtaining such credit, the government believes that their applications will be carefully considered by the banks if the farmers will take the regular way. Should any still have difficulty in obtaining the necessary credit, they should communicate at once with either the department of agriculture or the nearest provincial police officer, in order that the proper officials of the government may at once take steps to see what obstacle lies in the way and to give such assistance as is in the power of the government to offer."

COMMUNICATION

[We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading.—Ed.]

To the Editor of The Times:

THE STAMP GRAIN FUTURES REPORT

The question asked of the Stamp Commission by the Canadian Government was: "To enquire into and report upon what effect, if any, the dealing in grain futures has upon the prices received by the producer."

The Commission, when in session, received lots of newspaper attention, but there was comparatively little comment on its report except in regard to a chart which was wrongfully included in the first edition of the printed copies evidently by some interested party, who wished to prejudice the wheat grower.

But that colossal imperfection does not detract from the report itself which furnishes an answer to the question contained in the terms of reference as above quoted. The answer, however, is not a complete one.

For instance, the report utterly failed to note or consider a most important and recent development which has had a disastrous effect on the functioning of the grain-marketing system as carried on by the Winnipeg and Chicago Grain Exchanges, and which has revealed in a glaring way an unbound condition inherent in the system.

The Stamp Commission should or must have been aware of the fact that the group of men with their wealth which have until recently upheld the system by their speculative activities have largely withdrawn from the Grain Exchanges. This was the result of a combination of circumstances among which were pool-marketing, co-operative buying, and later, colossal losses both in the grain and stock markets.

The report makes no mention of this fact, for this would have been tantamount to a condemnation of the whole marketing system as at present conducted through exchange agencies. To have pointed to the fact that lack of speculators and speculator funds with the consequent failure of the market system on that account, would have left the Commission completely in the air, and rendered it unable to reach an acceptable conclusion with regard to the specific question submitted. The Commission was, therefore, reduced to the necessity of limiting its conclusions to times when it called normal.

The Commission could hardly have given its unqualified approval to a system which is entirely dependent upon the personal and fortuitous preferences of men as to whether or not they prefer to enter the risky business of backing their opinions with their money with regard to the variant trends of grain prices. It is quite understandable that when Wheat Pool activities made market manipulations more difficult and less surely profitable many big speculative interests forsook the grain exchanges for the stock market, where some of them got soundly trimmed.

The Commission in its report made careful distinction between the professional and amateur gambler. This was necessary to justify approval of a system under which gambling plays a major part. The Commission being made up of orthodox men trained to believe in the excellence of the present system blessed the professional gambler and called him speculator.

It is not impossible to vision a sounder system of marketing grain than the present one, but it must be an international one where the commodities to be dealt in are of international trade. It seems obvious that a really sound marketing system can not rest on a foundation of gambling, whether it is called gambling or speculation.

The Stamp Report, it may be said, submitted a proper answer to the question asked of it, but the really important question on the subject has yet to be submitted for consideration.

That question is: "Can the system of grain marketing be, on an international basis, improved?"

HOW SHOULD ELECTION CAMPAIGN FUNDS BE RAISED?

(By R. J. Deachman)

In all this talk about Beauharnois no one seems inclined to suggest remedies. The facts stand up like a wall against a provincial highway. Candidates seldom have the money necessary for an election. Funds for campaign purposes do not drop on the needy like dew from heaven. Contributions of size are not made by an indifferent public. Neither do they come from disinterested persons of wealth motivated by altruistic conceptions. They are provided by men and corporations with axes to grind—they are often given in happy expectation of favors to come. These are the facts. Only those who cover themselves with a mantle of self righteousness can ignore the actual conditions. The situation is as it is. What are we going to do about it?

Take Beauharnois as the example. Here was a company undertaking large electrical development. It was under the circumstances, likely to come in rather intimate contact with the governments of the Provinces of Quebec and of Ontario; also with the Federal government at Ottawa. What did it do? It contributed campaign funds not to one political party but to both—not to provincial or federal alone—to all. Now hands go up in all kinds of pharisaical protest, the upshot of it all being the solemn assertion that we got less than you—strange basis this for the dogmatic declaration of virtual purity!

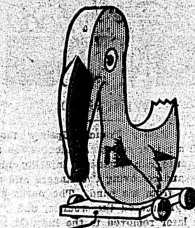

Campaign Funds
Why the necessity for campaign funds? Largely because some men have more wealth than they know how to spend. To gratify their personal vanity they enter politics. They spend. That is the only means they have of satisfying their desires—it is the only means they understand. The man who opposes them must spend too, or give up the fight. If he spends where is he to get the money? For corporations or private individuals! There is no other

Power

Always fresh—because he keeps his mouth fresh with Wright's.

WRIGHT'S is recommended by doctors and dentists. It aids digestion, cleanses the teeth. A simple rule of health, of mouth hygiene, of efficiency.

for ANY BABY

WE can never be sure just what makes a baby restless but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

The primary cause of political corruption is the existence, in political life, of men of boundless wealth.

Who else is responsible?

The grafters who baton on men in public life.

In a certain capital city of Canada a man became cabinet minister. The first week he was in office a preacher came to him and asked him for a contribution of $100 to a church college. Now this cabinet minister was poor—he had gone through several elections. The preacher pointed out that other cabinet ministers had contributed. He did not say you will lose the church vote if you do not come through, but the insinuation was there. Anyway the cabinet minister "capitalized," a polite euphemism for "coughed up."

Yet that preacher will proclaim from the pulpit his detestation of the political vandalism of some of our great men in public life. Readers of this story in Western Canada may locate the transaction somewhere in the West—the Easterners can place it in the Maritimes. The same thing has happened in every province of Canada. Why, oh why, should graft of this kind be condoned and other graft severely censured by the same men?

The Facts of the Case

Let us outline a few facts on which we can agree.

- (1) Campaign funds are necessary.
- (2) Campaign funds are desirable.
- (3) Both parties have campaign funds.
- (4) The sources of campaign funds of both parties are alike.
- (5) They consist of contributions from people with axes to grind.
- (6) It is desirable that this system should be stopped—it is inimical to democracy—destructive to right thinking and good government.

Perhaps you might challenge one or two of these suggestions. Possibly you may think that campaign funds are entirely unnecessary. You may say that this is merely a corrupt use of money to defeat the will of the people. That is incorrect. It is doubtful if in the entire campaign expenditures of both political parties, at the last election, there was any material amount spent for the debauching of the elector. Nevertheless there is a tremendous expense, there is the printing and distribution of literature, the use of the radio, the travelling expenses of the candidates, the rent for halls and all the honest and legitimate expenditures necessary in bringing to the attention of the public the issues which are before the people at the moment. Unless this work is done the public cannot have a clear understanding of the issues nor of the different views of contending candidates. These expenses must be met, what are we going to do about it? Campaign expenses are necessary and legitimate, then, surely the onus rests on us to provide them, decently and openly.

If we are to leave it to the contributions of men of wealth who simply desire to add the words M.P. or Hon. to their names, to their names who seek the positions for the gratification of their own whims then we might as well abandon democracy altogether and have a government directed entirely by men who have accumulated great wealth in some way or other and who now desire to amuse themselves with the godlike pastime of running the country.

Contributions for election campaigns will never be made over any long period of years by the ordinary man on the street, sending in his contribution to help defray expenses. We are face to face with the problem. The funds must be raised in some way or we must continue with the existing system with the evils which it involves.

Is there another way out? Honestly and fairly I think there is. No one doubts that each political party in the last election spent at least a million dollars.

This is an extremely conservative estimate.

It probably exceeded this by a very substantial amount.

What amount was necessary for legitimate expenditures?

Where then is the money to come from?

In my humble judgment, and I submit it only as a suggested remedy and will bow with great deference to anyone who can bring forward a better idea, the real solution of the problem is for the federal government to vote the necessary money for the legitimate expenditures of candidates at election time.

The Costs

What will it cost?

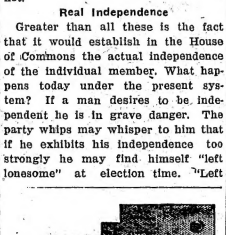

There are 245 constituencies. If we assume that each parliamentary candidate would spend $4,000, and the present average is above that, then we would have in the Dominion of Canada 490 candidates and a total expenditure of $1,960,000. Now it may be said that this does not allow for independent candidates and some one has suggested the excuse that it would lead to a large number of candidates merely for the opportunity it would give to expend $4,000. That, however, is not the case. The contribution would be allowed to any man who ran and succeeded in receiving one-half the total vote of the winning candidate. There might under the circumstances be a constituency in which three candidates would receive the amount. There could hardly be more than that. Making allowance for instances of this kind we have a total expenditure of $2,000,000. That is the price which the people of Canada would pay for the privilege of being freed from conditions about which they now protest. They pay this sum now and more—it would be paid then out of national revenue.

Would It Help?

It may be said that if this were done the parties would still continue to collect campaign funds and spend them in the same old way, and that this would only add to the total expenditures. That may be doubted, but other safeguards could be thrown about our elections much more readily under this system than under the old. There could be a law compelling the publication of contributions to campaigns. There is really no objection to contributions, providing they are made in the open and are made because men have a desire to see certain political principles triumph. Such a law would make it extremely difficult for a manufacturer, who desired to see a protectionist party triumph for his own ends, to contribute to a campaign fund. The same of course would apply in a case like Beauharnois.

Then if it were known that the candidate were receiving $4,000 for his legitimate campaign expenditures the constituency might very readily begin to frown upon the man who expended more. His ideas and associations would become suspected. The statement of his expenditures could be published, the public would have a ready means of ascertaining what was done with the money and whether it was rightly expended or not.

Real Independence
Greater than all these is the fact that it would establish in the House of Commons the actual independence of the individual member. What happens today under the present system? If a man desires to be independent he is in grave danger. The party whips him whiplike to him that it he exhibits his independence, too strongly he may find himself "left lonesome" at election time. "Left

It is a pleasant means of saying that he may be without campaign funds when election day comes round. Beyond question there at least 300 constituencies in Canada where a $4,000 appropriation would be sufficient to pay the legitimate expenses of the candidates. You would therefore have 300 members sitting in the House of Commons owing nothing to party funds or party contributions. Is this solution perfect? Is it the only one? I don't know.

At least it offers a hope, it is an honest and fair attempt to arrive at the solution of the problem.

Got So Weak She Could Not Work Nervous Breakdown

Mrs. W. Brouseau, Sidney, B.C., writes: "I had a nervous breakdown and got so weak I could not work steadily for more than an hour at a time, and what I did do would play me all out, and I would have to stop and rest for two hours before I could start in again. Since I have taken two boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I can do a full day's work, and be ready to go out at an evening." Wetaskiwin Public Library

The matter of re-opening the Public Library on September 1st was brought before the City Council on Tuesday evening, but no action was decided upon, the matter of roads and relief claiming first attention.

Although a by-law authorizing the establishment of a Public Library was voted upon by the citizens in 1912 and carried by a large majority no provision has yet been made for regular financial assistance.

In starting the Library in June, 1928, the Librarian secured the assistance of Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Fraser, and Miss M. Johnson. The latter has given up all her Saturday afternoons while Mrs. Fraser has carried on the Saturday evenings and Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Fraser have both spent many afternoons arranging and classifying the books. The whole of this arduous work has been done gratuitously now for the last three years without recompense of any kind except the satisfaction of seeing the Library grow from a few members in June, 1928, to 696 in June this year.

The members of the Library Board and the Librarian now feel that with the large number now using the Library and the heavy work entailed, it is impossible to ask anyone to do this work gratuitously. In fact Wetaskiwin is unique among all the cities and towns in Canada for securing free labor for running the Library for three years. Even Shakespeare would say a labor of love may be strained to the breaking point.

Many have kindly volunteered to assist in the Library from time to time. This method has been tried, but without a knowledge of what books are out and the charging system which requires practice in addition to the many other points that only constant practice can give, temporary help from time to time only causes confusion and extra labor. The one who works in a Library must be there constantly to keep track of the books that are out or many books are lost.

A permanent assistant is therefore most essential and absolutely necessary for a membership of 700.

To enable the Library to be re-opened upon September 1st, an honorable gentleman residing in the City has kindly come forward and offered to assist handsomely in the securing of a permanent assistant. He has generously offered to defray the salary of this assistant for the commencement of the season on condition that others in town will come forward and assist in the permanent establishment of the Library on a sound basis.

It is hoped that the City Council will kindly grant some assistance and that other citizens of Wetaskiwin who can see their way may give financial aid to run this valuable institution so that the good work may be continued.

J. E. FRASER, Librarian.

WETASKIWIN BRIDE-TO-BE GIVEN SHOWER BY L.O.B.A.

In honor of Miss Martha Erickson, a bride-to-be, a kitchen shower under the auspices of the L.O.B.A. was held at the home of Mrs. L. D. Hanna on Thursday evening last. The first part of the evening was spent in various contests, after which a mock wedding was held and the bride was presented with two sacks of very useful gifts by a fat, jolly fellow. The party then adjourned to the dining room, when a delicious lunch was served. The table was decorated with pink streamers and a wedding cake with miniature bride and groom under an arch of tinsel. Following the lunch, Mrs. Stewart, the W.M., expressed the deep regrets of the many friends at the proposed departure of Miss Erickson, but at the same time all joined in wishing that her married life would be crowded full of happiness and success.

WETASKIWIN WHEAT CROPS VARY IN CONDITION

The Canadian Pacific Railway crop survey, published on Friday last refers as follows to the crop conditions in this community:

Variation in conditions at points in the Wetaskiwin subdivision ranged from poor to good, but the majority of points reported expected wheat yields between 20 and 25 bushels to the acre, oats from 15 to 25 and barley from 25 to 30 bushels.

Lodging outlook was generally good. Points where good conditions prevailed included Blackfalds, Ponoka, Hobbema, Millet and Strathcona. Wheat was expected to average from 10 to 35 bushels to the acre, oats 30 to 60 and barley 25 to 40.

Every point in the Headley division reporting said crops were in good condition. These included Bentley, Winfield, Breton, Keystone and Sunnybrook.

MODERN MIRACLE BEING PERFORMED IN WETASKIWIN

Bald-heads will soon be a scarcity in this district. A well-known local man seems to have really solved the age-old problem of growing hair on bald pates. The discoverer of the remedy has succeeded in growing a crop of hair on his own head, and picked out some of the most hopeless-appearing cases for treatment. The result has surprised the owners of the heads, and the community generally, for the experiments are proving a 100 per cent successful.

331 WOMEN APPLY FOR HOMESTEADS

Edmonton, August 13.—Homestead entries in Alberta for the month of July numbered 1,114, more than half of which were taken through the Edmonton land office. Of the total for the month, 331 entries were made by women, this being the first month in which the new law enabling women to homestead was in operation.

MORATORIUM IDEA BANNED BY UNITED FARMER M.L.A.'s

Edmonton, August 14.—An extension of the existing debt adjustment system in Alberta, rather than anything in the nature of a moratorium, will be adopted as a means of helping to straighten out the financial difficulties of the farmers this coming year. The personnel of the adjustment branch of the government will be strengthened, and its facilities will be otherwise increased and improved. It is proposed to hold a number of conferences with the creditor interests in order to meet the situation as fairly as possible to all concerned.

This was one of the main decisions of the two-day meeting between the government, the federal and provincial members, and the U.F.A. executive, which came to a close Thursday evening.

In some localities of the province there has been a demand, it was reported at the meeting, for a moratorium, but the considered opinion of the gathering was that every effort should be made to work out the problem through the debt adjustment service instead.

Premier Brownlee said Friday morning that the meeting had been in the nature of an annual family get-together, but that the discussion this year had been more serious than usual because of the economic conditions prevailing throughout the province.

With respect to unemployment relief Mr. Brownlee said, the government took advantage of the gathering to ascertain carefully the present position in the rural areas so as to supplement the information obtained through its own departmental sources by the possible extent of rural relief that will be required, in addition to the relief in the urban centres.

An announcement from Ottawa, expected within a few days, it was stated by the premier, as to the policy of the federal government in respect to relief, and the meeting of the U.F.A. forces on Wednesday and Thursday was for the purpose of enabling the government to deal with the matter effectively when the agreement with the Dominion is finally worked out.

TRY THIS—ON A FRIEND

Mrs. Herman H. Williams, an applicant of Mr. Victory, Ohio, stood like a statue with three swarms of bees weighing about 50 pounds bearing down on her recently, then carried them to a hive without being stung. Mrs. Williams was summoned to settle a swarm of bees that had gathered on the branch of a briar bush. When they had swarmed she cut off the branch and started toward a hive. Another swarm settled down on her left arm. Fearing to move lest the bees sting her to death, she remained motionless while the insects settled. She started for the hive a second time and a third swarm settled on her neck and shoulders. Again she remained motionless for a quarter of an hour until the bees became quiet. Then she took them to the hive and, aided by a "smoker," put the bees safely away.

TREATMENT FOR EXTERNAL PARASITES OF POULTRY

(Experimental Farms Note)
The hot days of summer is the time that calls for close attention if the flock is to be kept free from external parasites.

Body Lice—if the surroundings are kept in a clean sanitary condition and dust bath is provided, not much trouble will be occasioned with body lice so long as the birds are in good health, but let any bird get out of condition and it becomes a veritable propagating place for lice. These lice however, are no great menace as they may be readily controlled. There are numerous lice powders on the market, any one of which will get good results. Ordinary fine road dust with a little flour of sulfur added, about a quarter of a pound of sulphur to a quart of road dust, will be found to give satisfactory results, when carefully dusted through the feathers. Blue ointment, a piece about the size of a small pea rubbed below the vent and underneath the wings, will also prove efficacious but the latter should not be used on setting hens. The most convenient remedy, however, that has been tried out at the Central Experimental Farm is Black Leaf 40 which can be purchased from any seed merchant. Paint the sides of the roosts immediately before the birds go to roost and the fumes will effectively rid the birds of all vermin.

Mites—Mites are a much more serious menace to the poultryman's profits as they are much harder to get rid of than the body lice, but here again cleanliness is absolutely essential if the pest is to be successfully wiped out. When mites are found to be present, the first step in banishing them is to give the house a thorough cleaning. Remove all droppings and old nesting material, scrape and sweep out every particle of dirt and burn it. Then if water pressure is available turn on the hose, forcing the water into every crack; if, as is the case on most farms, you cannot use this method it is advisable to scrub down the walls with a brush or old broom, but in any case they should be thoroughly sprayed or painted with a good strong disinfectant. This wash should be repeated in a few days, to destroy the mites which hatch after the first application. The disinfectant may be applied with a hand spray-pump, or, if one is not available, a brush will do, but in either case the fluid should be used liberally and every crack flooded.

A good strong solution of any of the coal-tar disinfectants commonly offered for sale will prove effective. Ordinary coal oil will kill the mites, but as it evaporates quickly the results are not lasting. An excellent "paint" to apply to the roosts and nest-boxes is composed of one part crude carbolic or possibly better still Black Leaf 40, to three or four parts of crank case oil.

Even after the house has been cleaned, the cracks in the roosts and nest-boxes should be flooded at regular intervals throughout the summer either with the aforementioned "paint" or with coal oil.

For further information write to the Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm for circular No. 80.

NEWSPAPER LAWS

Excerpts from Newspaper Law, printed for the benefit of any reader who may have mistaken ideas regarding same:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) if the subscriber does not take the paper out of the post office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he subscribes or not, is responsible for payment.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This takes the principle that a man must pay for what he uses.

SOAP is cheap. Everyone knows that! We use it freely without thought of cost. But did you ever stop to think that the electricity to do an entire washing costs less than the soap that is used. And so it is with most other household tasks. Electricity bears the burden at a trifling cost. Nearly every service it performs in the home may be paid for with pennies. In fact, if you paid for electricity as you use it, pennies would pay your electric bill.

CALGARY POWER CO. LIMITED

WHY BE ENGAGED SO LONG.

A friend of mine has recently married a man who had courted her for 25 years. Through all that time he had spent most of his leisure hours together, quarrelling occasionally, but always do, yet holding for each other an affection which has ripened with the years.

Marriage had long been postponed because, rightly or wrongly, they considered that their first duty lay towards parents whom they maintain.

Perhaps they lacked the divine spark which in young people induces courage, a rosy optimism and a readiness to make sacrifices. Perhaps their courtship was an affair of the mind rather than the heart. Almost certainly their marriage will be a happy one.

True, they have missed the joys of home-building—joys which can be appreciated only by the young; but at least they have tasted each other out in the cares and trials of daily life.

Call them matrimonial cowards if you will. They can still applaud the advice of Mr. J. R. Cairns, the London magistrate, to a 20-year old girl that "courtship days are not the worst days."

But Mr. Cairns' dicta were not intended for those who cautiously approach the sea of marriage, waddle a hesitant toe to the waves and jump back half a dozen times before fearfully wading in. His words were directed at the impetuous souls who race to the water and with happy abandon, take the plunge.

That there might be cross-currents threatening disaster, never enters their minds. Love is not merely blind—it is insane as well—in the sense that it warps our judgment unless there is time for calm reflection.

How long then should an engagement last? Between the 25-years of thwarted life I have mentioned and the get-wed-quick American plan there is a mean which can reasonably be expected to lead either to a happy marriage or happy freedom from it.

The safety line varies with social conditions. Among that section of the public usually known as "society" there appears to be a growing tendency for engagements to last only as long as it is necessary for the wedding arrangements to be made.

But this does not indicate that young people jump into marriage in a more careless spirit than was shown by their elders.

In an age when youth of both sexes is no longer hampered by parental "must-nots" girls have far more opportunities of weighing the qualities of their friends and sweethearts than the sequestered damsels of Victorian times could possibly have had.

The almost daily recital of broken engagements is not a sign of fickleness, but a proof that engaged people have time enough to discover the foibles of their partners and the courage to separate, before any irremediable step is taken, when they find a clash of temperaments.

As we go down the social scale we find still the same freedom from conventions, but a tendency for courtships to last much longer.

Unemployment, lack of suitable housing accommodation, and factory work by women all set back the clock on marriage. They have condemned to spinsterhood many a woman who might have been a happy wife and mother.

Who can blame youth, then, for taking a chance.

I remember the words of a valued friend who married at forty after roaming the world, having the usual good time. "My only regret," he said, "is that I did not wed sooner."

His advice to younger people was

"Be quite certain you know your own mind, and then marry early." I think he was right.—Exchange.

"You certainly looked silly when you proposed," said a lady the other day while reminding her husband of their early courtship. "No wonder," he replied, "Look at the silly thing I was doing."

DUCK HUNTERS MAY BE DOOMED THIS SEASON

Ottawa, Aug. 12.—Duck-hunters, those persistent men who are up with the sun on the cold fall mornings waiting for the "broadbills" and the "whistlers" to swoop down among the decoys, may be out of luck this autumn. A move is on foot in Canada and the United States to have no open season for ducks this fall or at most only a very few weeks.

Officials from Washington have been in Ottawa talking the situation over with the representatives of the Parks Branch of the Department of Interior and have returned to advise President Herbert Hoover, Dr. Harrison F. Lewis, Chief Migratory Bird Officer for Ontario and Quebec, will interview the game officials of the provinces of Western Canada to explain the critical situation to them and decide how far Canada will be prepared to go in the matter when discussions with Washington are renewed.

The drought in Saskatchewan and to a less degree in the prairie provinces is responsible for the situation. Wild ducks arrived in their accustomed breeding grounds to find their favorite water courses dried up. Many died and many others reared no brood of ducklings, according to reports to the department.

Accordingly, only a comparatively few prairie ducks will return south this autumn.

Both boys missed things up in real style, Mosley getting the decision. Third bout was a draw between Charles Short, Lacombe and Ed. Long of Stettler. Slippery Kish of Morningside knocked out Young Mack of Calgary, in the first round. Fifth bout was a draw between Johnny Bennett of Lacombe and Sec. McNamee of Ponoka. Ed. ANTICIPATION OF NEXT WINTER'S CONDITIONS

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 14.—Plans being made to provide work and relieve unemployment during the coming winter are of such magnitude and are being so carefully worked out that I fully expect we will come through the winter months with less hardship than has been formerly expected, though, in my judgment there are not very tangible evidences of a return to normal conditions, declared E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president Canadian Pacific Railway, in answer to questions submitted by newspaper men during his visit to Halifax Thursday.

Mr. Beatty said that he believed the lowest level in the present depression had been reached and speaker further of the approaching winter stated his conviction that "while Canada, which is only one nation of many who are suffering, cannot by its own policies relieve the effect of conditions which are world-wide, it can do much by anticipating this winter's conditions and providing work to lighten the effect of the former and limit the hardship which naturally follows."

HOPE TO PROLONG TURNER GAS FIELD

Edmonton, Aug. 14.—Measures being taken by the Alberta government to control the oil and gas flow in the Turner Valley field are entirely with a view, it is stated by Hon. R. G. Reid, minister of lands and mines, to the conservation of a vanishing asset and the avoidance of an unnecessarily early depletion of the province's petroleum resources.

"If the present wastage in the field is not stopped," says the minister, "the end is in sight within from three to six years, but if it can be stopped, there is every reason to believe that the field will produce and prosper for 20 years. We are taking steps to ensure that longer lifetime."

WEEKLY STOCK MARKET REPORT

The following is a weekly report from the Edmonton Stock Yards, as supplied to The Times for the week ending August 18th.

Receipts: Cattle 797; calves 337; hogs 1268; sheep 612.

Trading is opening slow this week as compared to the closing days of last. Salesmen are not moving their offerings of butcher cattle any too readily. This is especially true of steers and the demand seems to be only for the lighter weight cattle. Prices on the whole so far this week are showing a fully steady tone as compared with the close of last week.

Bulk of the good to choice heavy-weight butcher steers and heifers are selling from $4.50 to $5.00, medium kinds $4.00 to $4.25 and common to fair $3.50 to $4.00. Good butcher cows $2.50 to $2.75 for light weights, medium kinds $2.00 to $2.25 and common to fair from $1.50 to $2.00, canners and cutters $1.00 to $1.50, bulls $1.50 to $1.75. Stockers of all classes but especially females are moving quite readily at about steady and unchanged values with receipts of this class on the light order. Steers and heifers are going generally at $3.00 to $3.50 for the better kinds and cows at $2.00 to $2.50.

At the close of last week calf market was showing a weaker tone but to-day, Tuesday, a firmer undertone is noticeable with strictly choice veal calves selling up to $5.50. Bulk of the good kinds from $5.50 to $6.00 and common to medium $4.50 to $5.00.

Hog market is decidedly unsettled. A few held over locals sold today at $5.40 for the bacon fed and watered with select bringing a premium of 50c per 100 and butchers discounted 50c per 100. Light feeders up to 110 pounds at $5.25, heavier feeders at butcher prices. Following the cuts on the off-grade hogs which are now in effect: Heavies $1.50 per 100, extra heavies $3.50 flat, No. 1 sows $3.00 flat, and other sows $2.50 flat. Sheep market is inclined to be a dull affair with prices of lambs lower, bulk of the offerings selling at $5.00 to $5.50, yearlings $3.00 to $4.00 and ewes $2.00 to $3.00.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

As I recently returned traveller from Russia, I can attest the departure from that country to be an escape from a hell of misery and suffering. The terrible fear in the eyes of the people leaves the bystander shattered. A long line of women with children waits in the endless breadline for insufficient rations—the best of everything is shipped out of the country. Soldiers suppress all outcries with force, and the mob, covered by espionage and violence, becomes an aimless, drifting horde. There is nothing in the shops to buy, as all is held by the co-operative stores—and half of all sold by the stores goes back into the treasury. The Five-Year Plan may go through, but national endeavor and vitality will be killed. They cannot keep it going; man is individual and must become more and more so.

The mockery of faith and morality sanctions murder but cuts down ruthlessly the slightest speech against the state. With the destruction of churches, comes the wreckage of art—it cannot endure in a collectivistic state. Standards of music and painting and literature are bad; the great Czarist collection of pictures has been taken from its owners. The giant slave machine makes artist, peasant, soldier and worker alike.

Men, women and children work four days, with the fifth day off. Days of the week no longer exist; instead of Sunday there is the second day for the rubber factory, the fourth day for the textile factory, etc. All must sleep and eat where they work. Husbands and wives are not likely to have

5 REASONS why

Alberta POOL Elevators are worthy of support

- 1 The greater the volume handled by Pool elevators the less the cost of handling per bushel.
- 2 Pool elevators are not operated for profit. They are operated to give the farmers the best possible service.
- 3 Pool elevators assure patrons safety on grades and weights. Close adherence to a strict policy of fair treatment of patrons in respect to grades, weights and dockage is insisted upon by the management, acting under instructions from the delegates.
- 4 The history of grain handling and selling since the time when the prairies were first farmed, up to the present, clearly shows the real importance to producers of maintaining an efficient and complete elevator system under their control. This gives producers a power and influence which they otherwise would not have, were they dependent only on facilities owned and operated on a profit-making basis.
- 5 The uneven crop in Alberta, with indications of a reduced aggregate yield from former years only increases the urgent need of seeing that the support of pool elevators, so enthusiastically given in past years, is maintained during the coming crop year to an even greater extent.

the same day off and are separated for long intervals. At 16 years of age the child must leave school and become a worker for the state.

As a last remembrance, I think of the crowd forming between 7 and 9 o'clock each evening in the Red Square to file past the sarcophagus of Lenin with sentries of the Communist army standing guard. It is a touching and pitiful sight, this need of the people for something to worship. We may be asked that we live in an individualistic and capitalist government. The Russian experiment is not a step forward; it is a retrogression of 500 years.—New York Times.

Re. Wheat Pools

Statement issued by the Premiers of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba jointly, August 11th, 1931.

"Following the negotiations of the past few weeks, it is now possible to make a definite announcement as to the operations of the provincial wheat pools this season."

"On June 24th, representatives of the provincial governments and farmers' organizations of the prairie provinces met the Dominion Government at Ottawa and advocated the establishment of a wheat board to market this year's crop."

"Subsequently, the Prime Minister addressed a letter to each provincial premier concerned, declining to establish such a board, but suggesting as an alternative the formation of a trading corporation to which the provincial pool elevator systems would be leased. It was also suggested that J. I. McFarland might act as general manager and that the Dominion government might assist in financing the operation of such corporation."

"On receipt of this letter, a conference was held at Regina, Mr. McFarland was unwilling to consider the position of general manager of such a corporation. The predominant feeling at the conference was opposed to the leasing proposal, but after communicating with the Prime Minister by telegram and telephone, it was decided to canvass further the possibility of the three provincial organizations operating separately, with a central corporation handling all sales. The conference adjourned to meet later in Winnipeg, after the proposal had been examined by technical advisers."

"At Winnipeg, the following week, it was the final opinion that difficulties in working out any scheme for centralized selling was such as to make it inadvisable to attempt to put it in operation in time to handle this year's crop, which was moving in a short time. It was, therefore, recommended that each provincial organization should operate separately in purchasing, handling and selling its grain, with a further recommendation that a central board be created to act in a co-ordinating capacity and to study further the possibility of centralized efforts along marketing lines."

"The last delegation to Ottawa was to obtain the cooperation of the Federal Government in obtaining the necessary lines of credit to finance the three organizations without obliging the Provincial Governments to postpone their securities on the elevator systems because of the possible influence on provincial credit such postponement might have in these difficult times."

"The Prime Minister was ready to assist the provinces and has a result of the conference, which was attended by representatives of the banks, the provincial pool organizations are assured of ample lines of credit for the season's operations. Each provincial organization will therefore function in exactly the same manner as privately owned enterprises and will also conduct a voluntary pool for such as may desire to sell their grain in such a way. An initial payment of 35 cents will be paid instead of 30 as formerly announced. A bonus of 5 cents per bushel is to be paid to all producers of grain, in effect, this brings the initial payment in the voluntary pool to 40 cents, basis No. 1.

"A complete cut off has been made from previous years' operations and a settlement arranged as between the pools, the provincial governments and the banks. Members of the pool and farmers generally desiring to do so may, therefore, patronize the pool elevator facilities with complete assurance that their grain will be dealt with as a separate crop and without in any way being liable for any debts or obligations of past years."

FEEDER PURCHASE POLICY
DOM. LIVE STOCK BRANCH

In order to encourage the winter feeding of young cattle and of lambs in Eastern Canada, and incidentally to ensure the success of the feeder show which will be held at Moose Jaw on October 14, 15 and 16, and of the Calgary Feeder Show in the event of one being held there this fall, the Honourable Mr. Weir has authorized the Dominion Live Stock Branch to put into operation for a period of five months a Feeder Purchase Policy on similar lines to the assistance which was given last year.

Under this policy the Live Stock Branch will pay reasonable traveling expenses of a farmer, or of the authorized agent of farmers, residing in any of the three Prairie Provinces, who purchases one or more carloads of feeder or stocker cattle, or of feeder lambs, under the following conditions:

(1) The applicant must purchase at his nearest stockyards, to be returned to his own farm or to the farms of those for whom he has acted as agent, one or more carloads of stocker and feeder cattle or of lambs.

In the case of cattle, the policy is limited to calves, yearlings, and two-year-olds when purchased at a feeder show, and to loads averaging not over 1050 pounds when purchased on the stockyards.

(2) A carload shipment must include not less than twenty head of cattle or forty of sheep. In a mixed shipment two sheep will be accepted as equivalent to one head of cattle in fixing the minimum for one car.

(3) An applicant must make formal application to the representative of the Branch at his nearest stockyards before commencing to purchase, and must receive from him a certificate authorizing assistance under the policy. This certificate will indicate the stockyards at which the purchase must be made if the benefit of the policy is to be allowed. In all cases the certificate will direct the purchaser to his nearest stockyards unless in the judgment of the representative of the Branch the condition of the market at the time warrants an exception being allowed.

(4) Expenses will be allowed covering railroad transportation from the home of the purchaser to the stockyards at which the purchase is made, also hotel expenses for a reasonable time required to make a purchase.

(5) The purchaser should secure a receipt for his hotel expenses, and should attach this receipt to his account. The account should be forwarded in triplicate on forms which will be supplied for the purpose.

(6) The purchaser is further required when forwarding his account to include on forms supplied by the Branch a statement regarding the purchase. The certificate secured from the representative of the Branch previous to purchasing should also be attached to the account.

(7) If desired by the purchaser, the services of the representative of the Branch at the market will be available in an advisory capacity. The actual purchasing must be done, however, by the buyer himself or by his authorized agent. Under no circumstances will any responsibility in this connection be assumed by any officer of the Branch.

Inquiries regarding this policy may be directed to the Edmonton Stock Yards, Edmonton, Alta.

LOOK AT YOUR MILK CHEQUES

(As sung by the Conservative Sky High Protection Candidates)

Come all ye Canadian farmers

And listen to my song.

For the mighty R. B. Bennett

Is bound to right your wrong.

Mackenzie King the tyrant

Has his foot upon your necks

Look on your ruined markets,

Ad look at your milk cheques.

Tons of butter from New Zealand

Are landing every day;

You are headed for the poorhouse,

For farming doesn't pay.

All mortgages will be foreclosed;

Your homes will soon be wrecks;

Look at the wolf around your door.

And look at your milk cheques!

The markets for your products

Have vanished into air.

And tens of thousands jobless men

Are frantic with despair.

The infamous Liberal tariff

Sparcs neither age nor sex;

Look at the spectres of grim want,

And look at your milk cheques!

Turn out of power the despot

To whom you've bowed the knee,

From ocean unto ocean

All Canadians must be free.

The ship of state is in distress;

Put a new crew on her decks;

Look at the rocks she's headed for

And look at your milk cheques!

The great cure-all protection

Will heal the country's ills,

Let Bennett's name be sounded

Through the valleys, from the hills.

The unemployment problem

Will no more our statesmen vex;

Look at the sun peep through the clouds,

And look at your milk cheques!

1931

(As sung by the Farmers)

We've listened to your honeyed words

We listened to your song,

We trusted to your promises,

Nor dreamt you could be wrong.

But alas, has come the wakening,

We're sadder, wiser men;

We let Dick Bennett fool us once,

But never once again!

He promised higher prices

For our butter, eggs and spuds;

His tariff shells would "blast" their way,

But the shells have proven duds.

Potatoes now rot in the bins,

Butter's used for axle grease,

We're loaded down with 5-cent wool,

And eggs a cent apiece.

We pay far more for what we buy,

Get far less for what we sell,

Our lot by day's a purgatory,

Our dreams by night, a hell.

Bluffed, humbugged, tricked, bamboozed

On the stump, in Tory press;

We're waiting, oh so patiently

Our feelings to express.

We're waiting for the call to arms,

We're waiting for the day

To tell the promise-breakers

That deception doesn't pay.

And after every Liberal name

We'll place the farmer's X.

But before we mark our ballots,

We'll look at our milk cheques!

TEETHING

It is a common belief that any one of the little ones when the young child may suffer can be blamed upon the baby teeth which are coming through the gums. The young mother is told that the cold in the head, the crying, the restlessness, the upset stomach or the diarrhoea are all due to teething.

Blaming everything that happens to the child on teething is just about as ridiculous as blaming all the ills which may come to the middle aged woman on "change of life." These sweeping statements are not true, and they may cause serious harm because they lead to neglect.

At birth, each tooth lies in a cavity of the jaw bone. The teeth grow as the baby grows and at about the seventh month, the teeth begin to push their way through the gums. There are twenty teeth in the first set of baby or deciduous teeth. These do not appear all at once. By the time the baby is one year old, he usually has six teeth, the number gradually increases until when he is two and a half years old, the entire set of twenty teeth should be through.

"DON'T HAVE TO? MERCHANT DOESN'T GET VERY FAR

The bird who says "I don't have to Advertise for everyone knows who I am, where I am, and what I sell," will never make any more than a living. The average shop-keeper does not care who a merchant is, where he is, or what he sells. But, he does care about information as to cost of what he wants without wasting steps. So, Ad-vertise.—The Life of the Town, Bellows Falls, Vt.

HILLSIDE

Miss Martha Rossier of Brightview is the guest of Miss Barbara Marr.

Mrs. James Pritchard of Edmonton, accompanied by Miss Manders, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. Hoskins.

Mr. Tom Bolt passed away in the Wetaskiwin hospital on Sunday afternoon. Our sincere sympathy is ex-tended to the family.

A very enjoyable dance was held by the Juniors on Friday evening last. The Thora orchestra from Wetaski-win, supplied the music.

Ronald Hoskins succeeded in cap-turing 1st in the running broad jump, 3rd in running high jump, 2nd in 8 lb. shot put, and second in the 440 yards in the under 16 class at the Provincial Boys' Track and Field Championships held in Wetaskiwin on August 11th and 12th. He is one of the coming athletes of the pro-vince, and his performance at Wetaskiwin in competition with the out-standing athletes of Alberta is most commendable.

HILLSIDE U.F.W.A.

The Hillside U.F.W.A. held a most enjoyable meeting this month at the home of Mrs. T. H. Howes. Owing to wet weather and bad roads the number of visitors from other locals was not as great as had been planned.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Harvey gave a paper on Current Events. Mrs. Leslie Marr read an interesting paper on the Hudson's Bay Railway. The President then called on Mrs. Ross, U.F.W.A. director for this constituency. Following her talk, Mrs. A. H. Warr, Provincial President of the U.F.W.A., gave a cheering and inspiring message.

Mrs. Ross then engaged the ladies in a discussion of much interest on educational questions.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The September meeting is to be at the home of Mrs. H. G. Young.

HOW FAST DOES THE WIND BLOW?

When the wind blows less than one mile an hour, smoke rises vertically. A wind of one to three miles causes smoke to drift but does not move a wind vane. A light wind of four to seven miles an hour makes itself felt on the face, rustles the leaves, and moves a wind vane, while a gentle breeze of eight to 12 miles an hour keeps leaves and small twigs in constant motion and extends light flags.

A moderate wind of 13 to 18 miles an hour raises dust and loose paper and moves small branches. A "fresh blow" of 19 to 20 miles causes small leafy trees to sway gently and forms created wavelets on inland waters.

A strong wind of 25 to 31 miles an hour moves large branches of trees, whistles through the telegraph wires and makes difficult to hold an umbrella open. A wind of 32 to 38 miles velocity sets whole trees in motion and retards anyone walking against the wind.

A wind blowing 39 to 54 miles an hour is known by the Weather Bureau as a gale. When a gale does not exceed 46 miles an hour it breaks twigs off trees and generally impedes progress, but when stronger it causes slight structural damage, blowing off chimney pots and slate shingles.

The wind seldom blows 55 to 75 miles an hour inland, but such a velocity is known as a "whole gale." When blowing at a velocity of 55 to

"What do I eat for a light lunch in Summer? I eat two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in a bowl of milk and half-sometimes I cover the Biscuits with berries or sliced peaches. You'd be surprised at the lightness of touch on the machine and the ease with which I can take dictation. The mind works clearly and the fingers deftly. It's easy to keep awake after such a lunch."

63 miles an hour, a "whole gale" up-roots trees and causes much structural damage. A 64 to 75 miles "whole gale", very rarely experienced, causes widespread damage.

A hurricane, blowing faster than 75 miles an hour, makes itself known with a fury understandable only by those who have lived through such an experience.

By injecting a certain serum into egg, various colored chickens have been produced.

Suffered Severe, Painful Cramps In Her Stomach

Those terrible cramps in the stomach that double you up in pain and make you break out in a cold perspiration, may be stopped by a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Lloyd Jones, 204 Argyle St., Halifax, N.S., writes: "I have suffered greatly from severe and painful cramps in my stomach. I tried several remedies without result. One day a friend advised me to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I bought a bottle and got instant relief."

TWO BUSINESS PLACES

BROKEN INTO TUESDAY A.M.

The boot shop of F. H. Backwell was entered some time during the early hours Tuesday and at least five pairs of shoes and several pairs of stockings were removed. About the same time the Stanley Cafe was broken into by the raising of a kitchen window, and a small sum of silver was taken from the trousers pocket of one of the employees.

The room of the proprietor was also entered and in searching for the clothes in the room the arm of the owner was touched which aroused him. The culprit cut the electric light wire and made good his escape. The police were at once notified.
